Art Unit: 1714

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-18 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites a process step at (e). Items (a)-(d) appear to be directed to an apparatus. It is unclear as to what statutory class of invention applicants are claiming.

Claim 4 recites a measurement means without reciting what is measured.

Claims 5-7, 12-16 and 18, by their recitation of specific materials and articles of used plastic make it unclear as to what statutory class of invention applicants are claiming. It is not clear whether applicants are claiming an apparatus, a process or a composition.

Claim 12 is further indefinite due to its' recitation of "salvaged under specific conditions" without defining what these conditions are.

Claim 17 recites, "said system is preliminarily provided". The term "preliminarily" is not understood in this context.

In claim 25, lines 6 and 7 are not understood.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 and 6-23 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lieberman '713.

For the purpose of this rejection, claims 1-18 are seen as drawn to an apparatus, claims 19-24 are seen as drawn to products by process and claims 25 and 26 are seen as drawn to methods of recycling.

Lieberman '713 discloses polymer recycling methods and apparatus suitable for recycling and rejuvenating post-consumer plastic materials comprising a variety of polymers including ABS, SAN (AS), polycarbonate, polystyrene etc. and mixtures thereof (abstract and column 5, lines 10-54).

The methods are disclosed as comprising sorting, particulating, testing, addition of rejuvenating agents, extruding (melting), testing and certifying (column 5, lines 3-9 and Fig. 1). The apparatus is seen as comprising means for each of these operations.

Step (e) in claim 1 is seen as a method limitation in an apparatus claim and is therefore not given patentable significance.

The limitation "separates a resin" in claims 6 and 7 is seen as a method limitation in an apparatus claim and is therefore not given patentable significance.

The recitation of specific plastic materials in claims 13-16 and 18 is seen as describing an intended use for the apparatus and is therefore not given patentable significance.

The process limitations of claims 19-23 are not seen as imparting patentability to the products therein barring a showing of patentably distinct properties flowing therefrom.

Art Unit: 1714

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 24 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lieberman '713.

Lieberman '713 discloses methods and apparatus as discussed above. The reference fails to explicitly recite recycling of ABS/AS blends or the production of magnetic recording products.

It is the position of the examiner that the disclosure of the reference of such broad varieties of polymers and mixtures of polymers along with the breadth of post-consumer products suitable for remanufacture renders obvious the limitations of claims 24 and 26.
